

Breaking News: Bradbrook Lawyers joins DW Fox Tucker, creating one of the strongest employment law teams in South Australia.

In a proud announcement today, Jodie Bradbrook of Bradbrook Lawyers confirmed that her practice will be joining forces with leading commercial law firm DW Fox Tucker from Friday 19 November 2018. Both organisations are excited by the opportunities presented by the merger, following Bradbrook Lawyers' significant growth and proven expertise. Jodie's impressive skill set and long client list creates a very welcome expansion to DW Fox Tucker's employment and workers compensation teams.

Jodie joins DW Fox Tucker as a Director, working alongside fellow Directors Ben Duggan and Patrick Walsh. The team will operate under the stewardship of one of South Australia's most respected workers compensation lawyers, John Walsh.

Existing clients of Bradbrook Lawyers can look forward to:

- The same excellent service but under the DW Fox Tucker banner
- Valuable access to the exceptional expertise of DW Fox Tucker's employment and workers compensation lawyers
- Valuable access to DW Fox Tucker's lawyers who work in other legal areas.

"I'm very proud of how significantly my practice has grown," Jodie said today. "But over the past year this growth has made me increasingly mindful of my firm's capability to maintain an excellent standard of service for every single client. For me, excellent service means not only delivering accurate legal advice and positive outcomes, but also getting to know my clients and their businesses. Joining DW Fox Tucker will ensure that I can continue to offer services that are truly tailored to my clients' needs and remain great value for money."

"I've not made this decision lightly," Jodie continued. "For many months now, I have carefully considered joining with DW Fox Tucker. Having previously worked at Donaldson Walsh and Phillips Fox, the move to DW Fox Tucker is a 'coming home' for me. I am really looking forward to again working with this firm's great people."

DW Fox Tucker is known as a leading South Australian commercial law firm, servicing all aspects of commercial law. It also has an outstanding employment and workers compensation team.

With many of its lawyers being award-winning experts in their fields, and Jodie Bradbrook herself noted as a leading employment and safety law practitioner, the joining together heralds a new era of outstanding legal services in South Australia.

DW Fox Tucker & Bradbrook Lawyers: Two Eminent Employment Law Specialists Join Forces.

DW Fox Tucker is delighted to announce its merger with Bradbrook Lawyers, another of Adelaide's premier employment law practices. This significant joining of forces is the result of many months of strategic discussions between the two organisations, which have profoundly similar core values, philosophies and a dedication to providing excellent service to their clients.

A client champion and a fierce competitor on the employment law circuit.

Jodie Bradbrook, Bradbrook Lawyers Principal, is highly regarded in the South Australian legal profession. Known for her passion and determination in taking care of her clients, and highly valued for her integrity, straight talking and innovative legal solutions. Jodie's impressive portfolio of achievements has seen her recognised in Doyle's Guide as one of Adelaide's leading employment and WH&S law specialists.

As Jodie explains, old allegiances made her carefully considered decision much easier: "Before starting my own practice I'd worked with DW Fox Tucker's predecessor firms Donaldson Walsh and Phillips Fox, so the move is a kind of 'coming home' for me, and I am really looking forward to working with their great people again."

Jodie joins DW Fox Tucker's employment and workers compensation teams as a director, working alongside much-credited fellow directors Ben Duggan and Patrick Walsh, under the stewardship of one of South Australia's most respected workers compensation lawyers, John Walsh.

DW Fox Tucker directors warmly welcome new strength in employment & workers compensation capability.

Joe DeRuvo, DW Fox Tucker managing director, couldn't speak more highly of Jodie or sound more excited about the opportunity this merger presents. "Since establishing Bradbrook Lawyers in 2011 Jodie has built a brilliant practice, servicing a broad range of clients across multiple industries," Joe explained, "by applying the same steadfast philosophy around client service that we employ here at DW Fox Tucker. The synergies between our organisations are substantial, so when Jodie told us the growth in her firm had reached such a point she was ready for the next step, we happily started the ball rolling. This coming together was a natural choice, and puts our firm in a strong position to continue to provide a strong, cost-effective and responsive alternative to the largest firms in SA and nationally."

DW Fox Tucker director and head of employment and workers compensation, John Walsh, is similarly upbeat about the addition of Jodie's exceptional expertise to his already talented group. "I've known Jodie for many years, she has a tireless work ethic in the service of her clients, finely-tuned expertise and is such a dynamic practitioner. Her innovative approach to the practice of law will enhance our reputation and highlights our perpetual push for excellence in providing first class service to our clients. It is an exciting time in the evolution of DW Fox Tucker. Our expanded employment and workers compensation capability will position us as one of the strongest, most diverse groups in the state."

So if you're an employment law or workers compensation client with DW Fox Tucker or Bradbrook Lawyers, you can still look forward to receiving the same excellent service, but with the added reassurance that you'll have an even deeper well of legal talent on your side.

From 19 November 2018, Jodie Bradbrook can be contacted by telephoning (08) 8124 1811 or by emailing jodie.bradbrook@dwfoxtucker.com.au.
